Asthma is a multifaceted disease. The Pulmonologists and Allergists at UMC ARC have identified areas of new information and therapy as well as existing evidence based practice that will benefit practitioners who care for individuals with asthma. In addition, recent analysis of the Epidemiology of asthma related pediatric deaths has been completed by the Arizona Department of Health.

Course Description

The Asthma Conference will focus on bringing the most current information and research about asthma care and management to healthcare providers. The Conference will provide new ways to look at reducing the high rates of asthma morbidity and mortality in Arizona.

Course Objectives

The goal of the Arizona Asthma Conference is to decrease the rates of asthma morbidity and mortality in Arizona by providing the most current asthma education and research, as well as "best practice" protocols for the care and management of asthma patients.

- * Improve asthma care and patient outcomes through a better understanding of: a) asthma exacerbations and prevention; b) life influences and asthma risk, c) asthma management in the high performance athlete and d) pediatric seasonal and food allergy identification and management.
- * Improve care of children with asthma in the schools through improved trigger identification and medication management.
- * Increase awareness of the epidemiology of pediatric asthma related deaths and illness in the state of Arizona.

Learning Objectives

- * Describe the pathophysiology of asthma exacerbations and prevention strategies
- * Identify life influences that affect asthma risk
- * Describe asthma management in the high performance athlete
- * Identify asthma triggers in the schools and describe appropriate medication management of children in the schools
- * Describe methods to diagnose and treat pediatric seasonal and food allergies
